LEADING ORGANIZATION CHANGE FOR AI ADOPTION IN HEALTHCARE

Richard G. Greenhill, DHA, FACHE

Richard G. Greenhill has spent over 30 years solving the problems in quality metrics, patient safety, and operations. His expertise at the intersection of quality improvement, operational excellence, and AI-driven innovation enables him to deliver solutions that are clinically sound, operationally efficient, and technologically advanced.

As Principal and Founder of Smart Sigma AI, Dr. Greenhill serves as a transformation partner to healthcare leaders, working alongside C-suite executives to turn strategic vision into measurable operational reality through AI-powered innovation and proven quality methodologies.

Elected by his international peers to the prestigious International Academy for Quality and Safety (IAQS)—one of the highest lifetime honors in global healthcare quality—he brings both academic rigor and practical operational insight to every engagement.

Honorably retired from the U.S. Navy Medical Department, Dr. Greenhill has authored extensively in peer-reviewed journals and medical textbooks, combining scholarship with practical implementation support that transforms healthcare organizations.
